

Director's Message

Dear CCPR Community,

We are looking forward to PAA! CCPR faculty, students, and alumni are well represented at PAA, presenting exciting and important research. CCPR will also host a reception on Thursday, April 13 at 6:30p.m. at the Old Birds NOLA at Selina Catahoula (Rooftop Bar), 914 Union St. We hope to connect with friends from near and far in New Orleans!

We have a fantastic schedule of spring quarter seminars and workshops, and an upcoming All-UC Demography Conference at UC Irvine on May 4-5:
<https://www.cpip.uci.edu/conference.php>.

We hope to see you at these events. This newsletter highlights some of our ongoing activities and the accomplishments of our affiliates. Please continue to inform us of your news (including new papers) so that we can feature your work and achievements: <https://ccpr.ucla.edu/category/news/>.

Best wishes for a happy and healthy spring quarter. I look forward to seeing you soon.

Jennie E. Brand
 Director, CCPR

Summer Institute in Computational Social Science (SICSS)

We are excited to announce that CCPR is once again hosting a Summer Institute in Computational Social Science (SICSS) with support from the Division of Social Sciences at UCLA. All advanced Ph.D. students, postdocs, and junior faculty members interested in exploring causal inference, text analysis, and computational social science who can spend two weeks in L.A. this June should apply here. Work with instructors Nanum Jeon, Tanvi Shinkre, Christina Wilmot and peers on group projects and research. Guest speakers currently include Jennie Brand, Natasha Quadlin, Ian Lundberg, and Mark Handcock. We look forward to welcoming people to UCLA!

Research Spotlights

Congratulations to Heeju Sohn, Anne R. Pebley, Amanda Landrian Gonzalez, and Noreen Goldman for their publication in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. In the study, the researchers analyzed sociodemographic trends among Mexican immigrants who were deported or voluntarily returned to Mexico over a nearly 20-year period spanning the presidential administrations of George W. Bush, Barack Obama, and Donald Trump. The study may be accessed here.

Congratulations to Wei-hsin Yu on her recent publication in the American Journal of Sociology. The study assesses the association between wage premiums and penalties with differing temporal demands imposed by occupation. The study may be accessed here.

Selected Faculty Awards

Congratulations to Cecilia Menjivar for being elected as the 2023 W.E.B. DuBois Fellow for the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Congratulations to Christine Dunkel Schetter for being named a 2020 Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.
